REF : Deptel 212; Embtel 496

Mr. and Mrs. DeMohrenschildt furnished additional information relating to Lee Oswald during an interview at this Embassy on December 19, 1963. Details of this interview are enclosed. The DeMohrenschildts again expressed their readiness to cooperate in any further way that might be desired in this matter.

As previously reported by telegram, the DeMohrenschildts had left Port-au-Prince for the provincial city of Cayes prior to receipt of the Department's telegram under reference. The Embassy finally located them in that city on December 17 and urged them to return to Port-au-Prince, which they did the following day, arriving in Port-au-Prince late on the night of December 18.

Information [illegible] to be placed to [illegible], Dallas, Texas, by [illegible] on December 31, 1963.

1. Period of Stay in Haiti

Mr. DeMohrenschildt stated that he had been in Haiti a couple of years ago (1961) but that his present stay began in March 1963. He was in Port-au-Prince for a period of a contract on March 15, having arrived a few days earlier and returning to the U.S. a few days later. He had spent approximately one week in Haiti at this time. He returned to Dallas then where Mrs. DeMohrenschildt had remained. He last left Dallas on April 19, driving to New York and [illegible] (Mr. DeM. was involved in a law suit in the latter city). They drove back to Dallas at the end of May for "two days" to pick up [illegible] and [illegible] arrangements for sailing to Haiti. They exhibited an Eastern ticket date-stamped May 29, 1963 by the Dallas office of Pan American Airlines. They drove from Dallas to Miami at the end of May and shipped their car to Haiti from that point. They did not use their U.S. passport on these 1963 trips to Haiti, but state they entered with a tourist card. They showed Mr. Warren their joint U.S. passport which carries no stamps dated later than 1961. They exhibited a Haitian residence permit showing their date of entry into Haiti as June 2, 1963. They state they have not returned to the United States since that date.

The DeMohrenschildts state that they did not see the Oswalds at their end of May visit to Dallas.

2. Oswald's Resumé

Mr. DeMohrenschildt states he returned the resumé to Oswald. He "glanced through it, not very carefully, and gave it back to him." He does not remember precisely how long he kept the resumé but thinks it was a matter of days. In any case, he states that he returned it to Oswald the next time he saw him.

3. Oswald's Rifle - Where When Gun Seen

Mrs. DeMohrenschildt's memory was not entirely clear on this point. At first she thought the Oswalds were living on Elsbeth Street in Oakleaf (a suburb of Dallas) when she saw the gun. Mr. DeMohrenschildt was not positive that it was at this location.

in many charitable works. It seemed that "all the people in Dallas who knew the Oswalds knew them purely from the point of view of helping them;" there was sympathy for Mrs. Oswald in particular because she was Russian and in a strange land and could not speak English.

Other Sources: [redacted] an investment banker in Dallas. Oswald went to [redacted] for a job but was turned down because he had no security. Fullen has investment interests in many enterprises all over the country employing thousands of people.

Theo [redacted] and his wife (who is "Russian"). Mrs. Roller is an engineering draughtsman. He works in Sangers Department Store in Dallas "as head of stock or something like that." They have no children. They took care of Marina Oswald and her baby for a while when Mrs. Oswald first was separated from her husband. (The Bellohrenschildts had moved Mrs. Oswald on that occasion, from the Elsbeth Street address to the Rollers.)
